LOGO BASICS

LOGO BASICS

PRIMARY LOGO

The World Parkinson's Day logo is a core element of the brand identity. The logo is set in a customized version of the free (open-source available) condensed sans-serif typeface Fira. It is paired next to The Spark, details of which are on the following page. The logo has been carefully constructed and should not be modified in any way.

CLEAR SPACE

The minimum amount of space that should surround the logotype is equal to half the height of the logo.

MINIMUM SIZE

Do not use the symbol smaller than 100px wide (in digital applications) and 1 inch wide (for print).

100px wide (web) / 1 inch wide (print)

LOGO BASICS

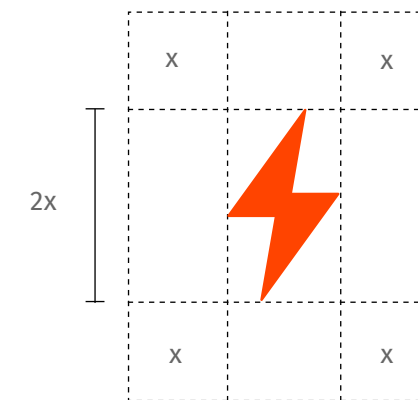

THE SPARK

The Spark symbol is the heart of World Parkinson's Day's brand identity. The Spark was inspired by dopamine, one of the key electro-chemical neurotransmitters that Parkinson's Disease both takes from people and what they seek to retain. It is also a symbol of the spark that will ignite a movement of change within the Parkinson's community and around the world. The Spark should primarily be used in the primary logo lockup, but can be used on its own if needed.

CLEAR SPACE

The minimum amount of space that should surround the symbol is equal to half the height of the symbol. Please note 'clear space' does not apply to type and illustration applications such as those found on pages 17 through 21.

MINIMUM SIZE

Do not use the symbol smaller than 18px wide (in digital applications) and .25 inch wide (for print).

18px wide (web) / .25 inch wide (print)

COLOR USAGE

The symbol, logotype and logo lockup should primarily be used in orange or white (equally). For budgetary printing reasons, the logo can be used in black and white. Avoid using black on orange or orange on black.

CORRECT USAGE

Black and white logos should only be used for one color applications.

COLOR PRIMARY PALETTE

World Parkinson's Day's primary brand color is orange, and should be used as the main color across all brand applications. While white and black are both secondary colors that can be used for typography in addition to orange, only white and orange can be used as background colors except in preset digital applications.

ORANGE		WHITE		BLACK		WEB YELLOW

The Web Yellow can be used sparingly as a highlight color for the website only.

COLOR USAGE RATIO

When looking at the overall brand system in use, there should be a clear ratio of color usage across applications. Orange and white should be the primary colors used, with black as a way to highlight type or illustrations. The web yellow should only be used sparingly on the website and in limited digital applications.

ILLUSTRATION & HAND-LETTERING USAGE

This page shows the three ways in which the illustrations and hand-lettering can be used. These elements can additionally be used on white backgrounds where The Spark is orange and the hand-lettering and

ON TOP OF THE SPARK

The primary way that illustrations and hand-lettering are used is over The Spark. Some of the illustrations have been drawn with the purpose of fitting directly over the symbol, like this bird whose beak is created by the shape of The Spark.

THE SPARK WITHIN ILLUSTRATION

The Spark can also be contained once or several times within an illustration to explain a concept. Here The Spark is being used to show how the World Parkinson's Day movement is taking place across the world.

WITHOUT THE SPARK

For a more simple composition (for social media, a sign, etc.) the illustrations and hand-lettering can be used on their own.

ILLUSTRATION & HAND-LETTERING USAGE

These elements can additionally be used on white backgrounds where The Spark is orange and the hand-lettering or illustrations are black.
